Evening Library Hours to be Extended at Most FVRL Locations

Many locations to extend fall hours on select weekdays.

[Abbotsford, BC] – Fraser Valley Regional Library plans to expand its fall hours. Beginning Monday, September 13, many locations will extend their evening hours on select weekdays.

The change in hours is part of FVRL’s phased approach to fully reopening after limited hours due to the pandemic. “FVRL staff have worked hard to continually enhance the in-person library experience, while ensuring that is welcoming and safe for all,” says Gayle Martin, Board Chair.

“The additional service hours gives our customers more options to visit the library at their convenience,” says Heather Scoular, Director of Customer Experience. “Customers will now have more time to browse the collection, use the WiFi, access the public computers and printers, or just enjoy a moment to sit down and read.” Customers can expect friendly staff and access to most of the library’s public space and services.

FVRL Express holds pick up service is still available for customers who prefer a more convenient and contact-free experience.
