TEENS CAN SNAP TO IT WITH THE PICTURE THIS PHOTO CONTEST Take your best shot to celebrate Teen Tech Week at Fraser Valley Regional Library.

Abbotsford, BC – Teens can celebrate Teen Tech Week 2012 all March by participating in Fraser Valley Regional Library's (FVRL) Picture This photo contest running March 5 through 31. Teens can show off their photography skills by snapping shots and entering them to win awesome prizes, including an Apple iPad and $100 Best Buy™ gift cards.

The contest is open to teens aged 13 to 19 who have FVRL cards and live or work in a community that FVRL serves. "This fun contest allows teens to engage with the library through technology and through our Facebook page," says Jo-Ann Sleiman, FVRL Information Services Librarian and contest coordinator. "It's a great way for teens who are current members of FVRL to learn more about all the cool free resources and programs that we offer them. This contest is also a great incentive for those teens who haven't yet become FVRL members to come in and get their free library card."

Teens can submit up to five of their best photos. Winners will be chosen by a panel of FVRL staff and guest judges on April 6. Winning photos will be published on FVRL's Facebook page, along with announcements on Twitter and www.fvrl.ca.
